ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Of all the Saints in the Calendar St. Patrick stands first in the eyes of every true-born Irishman, and although the present depressed and impoverished state of Ireland is the least opportune moment to commemorate our great patron Saint's day, still the cause of our native land holds such an irresistible fascination for us all, that, weaned though we be by long residence abroad from Irish politics, the shamrock and the harp will for ever hold the ascendant. We salute our fellow countrymen on this great National festival and only regret that their number in this prosperous happy country is so extremely limited. That we ourselves are much to blame for not aiding and assisting Irish emigration to this country we fear we must admit, since, notwithstanding the great prosperity of Irishmen as a class in the Plate, there is not a single club, society or committee formed by us for such a praiseworthy purpose; and if any remarks of ours may conduce to so desirable an object, then we bless the Saint's day that has afforded opportunity for waking up our friends to a due sense of their shortcomings. The celebration of St. Patrick's Day in this country by dinners, banquets, balls and fetes to "drown the shamrock" may be all very good in its way, but far nobler would be its celebration by the founding of a society to foment Irish emigration to this land where our countrymen have reached such remarkable prosperity. We may differ on Irish politics, which even in our native land are so unintelligible to many, but we must be all of accord that it is a blushing shame that other nationalities take such great precedence of us in this respect. In former years we had one regular liner plying between Ireland and the Plate, and every voyage brought us one hundred or more of our countrymen to join in the banquet of industry and plenty spread out here for all; but from one cause or other "they gave up the ship," and we proclaim the fact, that there is hardly another country on the face of the globe where Irish emigrants meet with a colder shoulder from their countrymen than in this. Let us dare hope that the present show of enthusiasm for the Saint's day will take some better shape than a mere dinner party when so many of our countrymen at home are starving. When we see more unity for so noble a cause, we are first in the ranks to promote it.

LISTA'S EXPEDITION.

The break up of the Lista exploring expedition is unpleasant news that has come up from the far South, and is another evidence of the great want of foresight on the part of those who organise these expeditions.

It was never to be expected that the scientists under Mr. Lista's banner would endure all the hardships of an excursion through the pathless country South of the Rio Negro, which all but annihilated Commander Roa, Mr. Andrews and the slender force they took with them. Yet the Lista expedition was viewed by the young men who composed the expeditionary party more as a scientific paseo than anything else. Luckily for the poor fellows it broke up as it did, since, had they penetrated a little further south, our friend Don Ramon Lista and his men might be among the missing now, pretty much the same as Gen. Rivas's lost son in the Gran Chaco.

Commander Roa has done even more than our countryman Musters, for he has found the road from the Rio Negro to Chupat, through the renowned Valcheta Valley, perhaps the richest country south of the Rio Negro, and which is very soon destined to be colonized by Europeans.

The following telegrams came to hand subsequent to the news of the general burst-up of the whole expedition. Read in the light of the collapse, they show a gloomy desperation on the part of the Argentine Stanley—26 leagues through a valley without a drop of water! Yet Roa, who has just come over the same ground, reports various rivers.

The Valcheta Valley is a most fertile, beautiful district, only very far away. The climate is splendid and not very cold in winter. The Governor of Patagonia, General Winter, intends to invite Mr. Callan, when he gets back from the Chaco, to visit Valcheta, as he thinks it would suit Irish farmers better even than the County Cork. We have presumed to suggest to H.E. that a free 10-league estancia to Mr. Callan down there would be the proper way to promote the scheme, and we hope to see our views accepted. Roa has already secured some twenty leagues, but he has been over the land and knows what he is about.

The following are the telegrams:—

The following was sent by Sr. Lista, dated 27th ult., from Fortin Castro, through Commander Luis D. Palacios, to the Minister of War, on the 12th inst.:

"As there is an Indian starting for Patagones, I seize this opportunity to advise Y.E. that I have just started (9 a.m.) for the Rio Valcheta. It is probable that we will arrive before nightfall at the Cañadon, known by the name 'Walichu,' where, according to the Tehuelche Indians who accompany me, there is drinkable water during the winter season.

"From Chupat I will forward to Y.E. a plan of the Valcheta from its source to where it becomes lost in the sands. A cutter, such as the Patagones, is necessary for the complete exit of the expedition, and I would beg of Y. E. to have same forwarded to me.

"I beg to salute you.

"Ramon Lista."

The following telegram has also been sent forward from Patagones on the 12th inst., dated at Valcheta 3rd March:—

"I have arrived here, all well. The 'travesia' of this name measures some 26 leagues, and throughout its whole extent we could not find a drop of water. The Walichu 'cañadon' is distant, by the road, 10 leagues from the Valley of the Rio Negro, and seems formerly to have been the bed of an arm of the sea. The River or Arroyo Valcheta rises to the S.W. of the island of Choel-e Choel in a Sierra not marked in the geographical surveys, and is lost in South lat. 40°, 30', and 68°, and 66°, 40' long. by the Greenwich Meridian. I have discovered here traces of the pre-historic man. On the 8th I will continue my journey to Chupat, and if I should find the cutter there which I have petitioned from Y.E. I will make a survey of the Patagonian coast between Punta Delgada and Bahia Bustamante.

"I beg to salute Y.E.

"Ramon Lista."

ROSARIO.

(From our own Correspondent.)

March 14th.

We are not surprised at the rueful complaints made by Chile of the Argentine monopolization of the Bolivian transit trade, and the strenuous efforts of our neighbours to recuperate it. These efforts are not to be despised, for the Chilenos have much more "go-aheadism" in them than we on the Eastern side of the Andes. After all, it is as yet, however, only a relatively small part of the Bolivian trade that we have secured. The wealthiest part of the country is in the North, and it will not be difficult for Chile to secure that when peace shall be declared. But they grudge us the traffic we have secured with the South. The whole commerce of Bolivia in 1883 amounted to 21 millions, of which 16 millions were for exportations. What is important for us to know, is not so much the value of the merchandise but what it leaves us in transit. The papers in Buenos Ayres publish some data on the subject, which the Standard has not noticed.

The Prensa says: "As the North Central Railway is the property of the nation, the ingress of the traffic, of course, belongs to the public treasury. We see that the merchandise in transit for Bolivia (in 1883) was 5,000 tons, paying a freight of 14.35, or 72,000 m/n. The merchandise bought in Buenos Ayres and Rosario has paid a freight of 54,000, and 500,000 marks fine silver has paid 8,000 m/n. with 6,500 more paid for freight on minerals; in all 140,000 dollars a year that the Bolivian trade pays to the national line of railway between Cordoba and Tucuman."

But this is a very small item in the large and increasing profits accruing to this country by the Bolivian trade. The expenses of transportation to and from Tucuman and the frontiers of Bolivia amount in the year to very nearly a million of dollars, and about 140,000 m/n is earned by the C. A. Railway. It is impossible, of course, to calculate the many indirect items that go to increase the valuable total which the Bolivian trade already gives us—the postage, telegrams, passages and expenses of travellers, commissions, patents, sales of silver to the Mint, etc. It is no wonder, then, that our Transandine friends feel a little sore at having lost this trade, and that they will not be slow in adopting every possible means to turn it back into what the Chilenos firmly believe is its legitimate channel.

As an illustration of my remarks in a former letter on the great number of small fountains of industry, and consequently of wealth, opened up by the railways in the Interior, I will give a curious item. At the station Frias, on the Cordoba and Tucuman line, there are saw mills for the purpose of sawing the quebracho logs into sleepers. The agglomeration of the latter at this place is stupendous, and is one of the sights on that line; they form interminable piles of a bright red colour, very picturesque to the tourist, and very interesting to the political economist. Of this great source of wealth, developed by the railway, I have already spoken on a former occasion; now I descend to a humble product, saw-dust. Who would have even understood the word, 'aserrin,' a dozen years ago in that region. Well, in eleven months of 1883, one merchant in Frias exported 84 tons of sawdust to Cordoba and Tucuman, paying a freight of 240 dollars. I should like to supplement this item of information by stating how much it was sold for, but this data is not in my possession. The same house exported during the same period about a thousand tons of sleepers of quebracho.

I read that a proposal is being made in Spain to suppress no less than six letters of the Spanish alphabet viz: c, h, ll, q, w and x. The reason given is that only by this means Spaniards will be able to avoid orthographical errors. Notwithstanding that the Spanish is the language that approaches more to phonctice excellence than any other in Europe, there is no people that so universally commit errors in their spelling. The c and the s are confounded continually even by educated people; the h, always silent when commencing a word is used when it should not be, and vice versa the soft liquid ll is generally turned into the harsh y when a consonant, and the latter into the former. It is common to see yegua, yesco, yambo, spelt llegua, llesgo, llambo, while llaga, llevar, llano, llave etc. are written yaga, yevar, yano and yave, and when spelt right they are always pronounced wrong. I would propose that in this country either the b or v should also be suppressed for the same reason as given above, for people of all ranks fall into the error of confounding the two; like a lady I knew, whose name was Zenobia Bilboa de Bolivar, who always spelt her name this wise, Cenovia Vilvoa de Volibar. I do not know if the proposal to suppress the six letters is really serious; probably not, for all of them have their individual uses in the language, if their proper pronunciation be taught; it is probably intended as a skit on the known defect in Spanish spelling. The confounding of the letters c s and z, and the b with the v in this country is general in all classes. The h at the beginning of a word is more ornamental than useful, but then it is indispensable in other places. In fact there are really few if any orthographical difficulties in the Spanish language, and it is unpardonable carelessness that bad spelling as well as bad pronunciation should be so common in all Spanish communities.

In what a delightful humour nature was in when she invented colour. We can imagine that at first everything was either black or white, neither of them is a colour, the former because it absorbs all the rays is no distinct colour, while the latter is no colour because a white body reflects the rays of light without separating them. But out of these dead combinations of rays of light Dame Nature created that marvellous variety of tints that never ceases to inspire wonder and admiration. Green and blue are the least dazzling of the colours; thus we have the universal blue of the heavens, and the universal green of vegetation. It is mostly in animal life that nature has exerted her fanciful taste for brilliant colouring. The colours of flowers beautiful as they are, cannot compare to the gorgeousness of the colour of birds and insects.

This subject was put into my head from reading some interesting letters about Bolivia. I was aware that Brazil was one of the regions on the globe where colour is the most lavishly distributed; even the fish of her rivers and coasts shine in gold and silver, emerald and ruby scales. Her coleoptera are sent to Europe to be set in jewelery like gems, while her lipidoptora are in the case of every naturalist as its greatest glory. But I learn for the first time that Nature has been lavish in colour in the elevated steppes and mountains of Bolivia. The writer says that in no part of America, and perhaps in the world, are the small birds of such brilliant plumage as in Cochabamba. The "chascaguaguan," which means in Quichua, Child of the Dawn, has only one rival, the peacock; the "chapeton," rose colour, and the "Pajaro Toro," with tippet and head-dress of turquoise and ruby, must rival the most beautiful of the Birds of Paradise in India.

The last week has been the most trying weather we have had this summer. The heat has been heavy and suffocating. The nights were as hot as the days, and people became exasperated and irritable. Early this morning, however, came indications of a change. A small cloud, "of the size of a man's hand," came sailing up towards the zenith, turned a broadside towards the town, and discharged one single thunderbolt that scared all the old women in Rosario, and then sneaked off without giving us a drop of rain. The heat is somewhat abated, and clouds are agglomerating, so we have good hopes of an effectual change; but it has been a scorching time, such as I have seldom known, even in the tropics.

The Orion's Mails.

London, 16th Feb. 1884

The Central News learns that telegraphic orders have been sent for the troopship Orontes to remain in the Red Sea and to disembark the 1,000 blue jackets she has on board. They are to be at the disposal of Admiral Hewett, into whose hands the Government have entrusted the disposition of the British forces on the Red Sea littoral. Admiral Hewett will, therefore, have for the present the command on land as well as at sea. It has been arranged that the Poonah shall take out 500 marines from the Portsmouth Division on Saturday next. The Admiralty have made no application for private transports, the Transport Department being quite able to move all the troops that it has been at present considered advisable to send to Egypt

The Press Association is authoritatively informed at the War Office that nothing is known there of the reported order for the troops at Aden to proceed to Suakim to reinforce Admiral Hewett, nor is the statement believed there to be well founded. The only British troops at Aden are the 1st Battalion York and Lancaster (late the 65th Regiment) and a native Indian regiment. As it is not improbable that some of the British troops at Cairo may be sent to Suakim, the following official list of the force under the command of Lieutenant-General Stephenson, C.B., will be of interest:—Cavalry: 19th Hussars. Artillery: B Brigade G Battery, 2nd Brigade I Battery, 5th and 6th Batteries Scottish Division. Engineers: 17tn Company, 26th Company (Field.) Commissariat and Transport: Detachment, Ordnance Store Corps: C Company, Infantry: 2nd Battalion Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, 1st Battalion Royal Sussex Regiment. 1st Battalion Royal Highlanders, 1st Battalion Royal West Kent Regiment (half battalion), 3rd Battalion King's Royal Rifle Corps, 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders, and 1st Battalion Cameron Highlanders.

THE EXPEDITION FOR THE RELIEF OF TOKAR.

Lord Wolseley, Adjutant-General of the Forces, telegraphed yesterday afternoon to the General Officer commanding the British troops in Egypt, that a force is to be collected at Suakim to relieve Tokar, if possible; or, if that cannot be, then to take measures for the defence of the ports:—

General Graham is to take command. Colonel Redvers Buller is to command the infantry brigade and act as second in command, and Colonel Herbert Stewart, who has just started, is to have command of the mounted troops. General Stephenson is to select the best—that is, most complete—battalions of infantry. These, together with the 2nd Irish Fusiliers, now on board the Jumna, and a battalion of marines made up from various portions—among others, those just arrived in the Orontes, Hecla an Monarch—will make a solid infantry brigade of five battalions ready to be put in line within a few days.

The troops which General Stephenson has at his disposal are:—The 19th Hussars; G Battery B Brigade, Royal Artillery; I Battery 2nd Brigade Royal Artillery; 5th and 6th Batteries Scottish Division Royal Artillery; 2nd Battalion Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry; 1st Battalion Royal Sussex Regiment; 1st Battalion Royal Highlanders; 1st Battalion Royal West Kent Regiment; 3rd Battalion King's Royal Rifle Corps; 1st Battalion Gordon Highlanders; 1st Battalion Cameronian Highlanders. Besides these the 10th Hussars are now in the Suez Canal on their way home from Bombay. The 19th Hussars, with some mounted infantry and any reliable native horsemen, will form a small cavalry force under Stewart, the Hussars being completed in horses from Sir Evelyn Wood's cavalry. English horses are to be left behind. A garrison battery of Royal Artillery is to take over guns, equipment, camels and camel-drivers from Colonel Duncan's detachment, which has just been reported as about to start for Assouan. Ordinary field-guns will replace the camel battery in the Assouan force. No field-guns are to go to Souakim, but some machine-guns, which will be furnished by Admiral Hewett from the ships. If necessary, the garrison of Alexandria is to be brought up to Cairo, the town being left in charge of the fleet. Camels are to be hired or purchased in hot haste, and all provision made for the carriage of necessaries, especially water; but the baggage is to be on the lowest possible scale. Tents are to be taken and used at the base, whether Suakim or Trinkitat; but when on the march the troops will bivouac. Provisions are to be taken for one fortnight, and more will be sent on afterwards.

Stores, such as groceries, preserved meat, and forage, are to be shipped from England immediately in the proportion of three months' supply for 6,000 men, with a large reserve. The ammunition to be taken will be at the rate of 250 rounds per man as reserve, besides seventy carried on his person. The 10th Hussars, who are on their way home from India without horses, will be stopped and landed at Suakim. Some of them will be mounted if possible on native horses, to be found there or sent from Cairo; but the rest will have for the time to content themselves with doing good soldier's duty on foot as part of the garrison. These are the chief military measures to be taken; but Lord Wolseley's telegram ends with these suggestive words: "The greatest publicity to be given to the determination to relieve Tokar by British soldiers."

Among other particulars published to-day of the arrangements for sending reinforcements to Egypt, we learn that, as a consequence of the decision of the Cabinet yesterday, telegrams were sent to various regimental depots throughout the country from the War Office asking for the names of officers who were willing to volunteer for service in Egypt. Several officers responded immediately.

The followiny officers left Charing-cross last night by the mail train for Brindisi, namely:—Major General Sir Redvers Buller, V. C., Colonel Henry B. Tuson, C. B. (Royal Marine Artillery), Captain William H. Poe (Royal Marines), Captain A. Baker (Commissariat and Transport Staff), Captain Hellewell (Commissariat department) and Captain A. G. Wauchope, C. M. G. (of the Black Watch), Colonel Herbert Stewart, who was chief of General Drury-Lowe's staff in Egypt, joined the party at Dover. The officers are due in Brindisi on Friday next, and in order to save time the despatch-boat Helicon has been ordered to meet them and convey them to their destination. They hope to reach Suakim by the 21st inst. The Central News is enabled to state that the Duke of Edinburgh having expressed a desire to go on active service, the Admiralty have consented to give him the command of a naval contingent, and to allow him to select his men from any three ships of the Channel Squadron. Orders were received at Woolwich yesterday that the 2,500,000 cartridges and other ammunition mentioned yesterday as having been drawn from the magazines at Upnor on ths Medway, should be repacked in boxes now being prepared at the Royal Laboratory, and forwarded by rail as early as possible to Liverpool, where a ship is engaged for its conveyance to Egypt. Captain Edward Kelly, the Captain Superintendent of the Steam Reserve at Devonport, yesterday received an order that two gunboats now in the reserve at Devonport were to be got ready for commission at once. The vessels named by the Admiralty were the Albacore, 4, screw composite gun-boat, and the Express, 4, screw composite gun-boat. The Albacore is to be commanded by Lieutenant Palmer K. Smythies and the Express by Lieutenant Vesey Knox.

LONDON LETTER.

(Our own Correspondent.)

THE QUEEN'S BOOK.

Feb. 13th, 1884.

You will receive by this mail enough extracts from the Queen's "Holiday in the Highlands" to keep you busy for a month. Ten thousand copies have been printed by the publishers Messrs. Smith, Elder and Co., for a first edition. The American edition will appear immediately, and French and German translations are in preparation. Of Her Majesty's previous book 39,000 copies were sold. I am bound to say that the new work is not so much of a success as the commercial indications just mentioned might seem to prove. A new generation has sprung up which knows nothing of Prince Albert and not much even of John Brown. The funereal tone of Her Majesty's work will be respectfully appreciated by hundreds of middle-aged persons who have followed the Queen's life from her youth upwards, and many will share her sympathy with her "dear Empress" on the loss of the Prince Imperial, as well as with all that portion of suffering humanity which honours the death of child or husband; but the truth must be said, the public sentiment of the present day, somewhat heathen, revolts at this morbid dwelling of the mind on the memory of the dead—this hankering after the tomb and its damp and unhealthy atmosphere. Pardonable in the Queen herself, who with the virtues has all the weakness of a passionately loving woman of moderate intellect, the incessant reference to her loss seems to have been encouraged not only in her family and household, but in sycophants lay or clerical who gained access to the royal privacy. Her Majesty in faithfully recounting the incidents of her life and her own impressions, must have been quite unconscious of the air of unreality which the mere echo of her sentiments by others attached to her court or person bestows on her work. It is mostly on this account, together with the desire to be fulsome in praise of the book, there is a manifest air of disappointment in the notices of the leading newspapers Tory or Radical. Some days ago the World gave what purported to be a fair account of Her Majesty's forthcoming diary. The royal scribe and chronicler Sir Theodore Martin immediately flew to the rescue and angrily denied that the account given was in any respect true. This week, the World, very properly challenges that accusation; and the fact is the account it gave was in the main correct. Although neither the World nor any other paper has ventured to say so, we all know and see that whereas Her Majesty's first "Highland Journal" was in memory of the late Prince Consort, the second which has just appeared is in memory of John Brown, to whom it is dedicated. No one objects; and it is quite understood that a woman of a certain temperament and capacity when deprived of a husband's counsel and support, will turn to any faithful friend or even attendant who consents to act as confidant in those little matters of common life and feeling in which a Queen above all others might find no sympathy out of her own family. Our Sovereign, when Prince Albert died, was not only a widower but an orphan. Her children were young and her duties which she nobly performed were heavy, and the ladies of her household were sometimes imposed on her acceptance from political causes. With the Queen's particular leanings it is not strange that she should have fled from the sad associations of court life in London and Windsor, and found in Balmoral the realisation of the moral of a very clever saying of the Prince Consort, quoted in Her Majesty's book. The Queen, we are told, used to relish the haggis and other good things offered to her in house or cottage in her rustic wanderings in the Highlands with the Prince, who when she was once praising some dish said—"things always do taste better in small houses." Her Majesty in her book, brags of her little drop of Stuart blood and likes to be thought a Scotch body, which in many respects she is, and is more fitted for "small-houses" than for the pomp of State. She found in the Rev. Dr. Norman Macleod a sympathetic confessor—a large-hearted fleshy evangelical of her own generation, and who believed that the hand of the Almighty guided the armies of Prince Bismarck to Paris to punish the iniquities of our Gallic neighbours. But neither Dr. Norman Macleod nor John Brown, who was of the same persuasion, had read the recent brochure revealing the present state of high society in Berlin; nor did Dr. Macleod's preaching prevent Her Majesty becoming the bosom friend of the "dear Empress" who if a paragon of virtue was the centre of the orgies in the Tuileries which called down the bolts of Heaven and the fire of the Communals. These inconsistencies, the want of incident, the utter ignoring of political and social questions and events, and of everything outside the Queen's personal mental absorptions, the almost ludicrous prominence given to a motherly interest in the Duke of Connaught's safety at Tel-el-Kebir, the space alloted to the sayings and doings of snivelling sycophants, and the terrible iteration of sorrows now too familiar to a portion of the world, and mere history to the younger generation; have contributed to the partial failure of Her Majesty's book—a failure you may perhaps not recognise in the criticisms you read, because not being on the spot to know and hear as well as read, you do not see between the lines or know the opinions of the very men who write them. The middle-class world and the female world, English and American, will devour voraciously every page written by a royal hand and bringing the every-day life of royalty down to their own level of thought and sight. In that respect Her Majesty's diary will not only be of great advantage as a political educator, but it redounds above all things to the praise of the royal authoress; since amongst the Queen's many virtues positive or negative, is the absence of that pretence which was not wanting in her German Consort. Were its little failings a thousand-fold more numerous than they are, one would love the book for its genuineness.

CHINESE GORDON ON SOUDAN.

The great evil is not at Khartoum, but at Cairo. It is the weakness of Cairo which produces disaster in the Soudan. It is because Hicks was not adequately supported at the first, but was thrust forward upon an impossible enterprise by the men who had refused him supplies when a decisive blow might have been struck, that the Western Soudan has been sacrificed. The Eastern Soudan may, however, be saved if there is a firm hand placed at the helm in Egypt Everything depends on that.

What, then, you ask, should be done? I reply, Place Nubar in power. Nubar is the one supremely able man among Egyptian Ministers. He is proof against foreign intrigue, and he thoroughly understands the situation. Place him in power, support him through thick and thin, give him a free hand; and let it be distinctly understood that no intrigues either on the part of Tewfik or any of Nubar's rivals will be allowed for a moment to interfere with the execution of his plans You are sure to find that the energetic support of Nubar will sooner or later bring you into collision with the Khedive; but if that Sovereign really desires, as he says, the welfare of his country, it will be necessary for you to protect Nubar's administration from any direct or indirect interference on his part. Nubar can be depended on; that I can guarantee. He will not take office without knowing that he is to have his own way; but if he takes office it is the best security that you can have for the restoration of order to the country. Especially is this the case with the Soudan. Nubar should be left untrammelled by any stipulations concerning the evacuation of Khartoum. There is no hurry. The garrisons can hold their own at present. Let them continue to hold on until disunion and tribal jealousies have worked their natural results in the camp of the Madhi. Nubar should be free to deal with the Soudan in his own way. How he will deal with the Soudan of course I cannot profess to say, but I should imagine that he would appoint a Governor-General at Khartoum with full powers, and furnish him with two millions sterling—a large sum, no doubt, but a sum which had much better be spent now than wasted in a vain attempt to avert the consequences of an ill-timed surrender. Sir Samuel Baker, who possesses the essential energy and single tongue requisite for the office, might be appointed Governor-General of the Soudan; and he might take his brother as Commander-in-Chief.

It should be proclaimed in the hearing of all the Soudanese, and engraved on tables of brass, that a permanent Constitution was granted to the Soudanese by which no Turk or Circassian would ever be allowed to enter the Province to plunder its inhabitants in order to fill his own pockets, and that no immediate emancipation of slaves would be attempted. Immediate emancipation was denounced in 1833 as confiscation in England, and it is no less confiscation in the Soudan to-day. Whatever is done in that direction should be done gradually, and by a process of registration. Mixed tribunals might be established, if Nubar thought fit, in which European Judges would cooperate with the natives in the administration of Justice. Police inspectors also might be appointed, and adequate measures taken to root out the abuses which prevail in the prisons.

With regard to Darfour, I should think that Nubar would probably send back the family and the heir of the Sultan of Darfour. If subsidized by the Government and sent back with Sir Samuel Baker, he would not have very much difficulty in regaining possession of the kingdom of Darfour, which was formerly one of the best governed of African countries. As regards Abyssinia, the old warning should not be lost sight of—"Put not your trust in princes;" and place no reliance upon the King of Abyssinia, at least outside his own country. Zoula and Bogos might be ceded to him with advantage, and the free right of entry by the port of Massowah might be added; but it would be a mistake to give him possession of Massowah, which he would ruin. A commission might also be sent down with advantage to examine the state of things in Harrar, opposite Aden, and see what iniquities are going on there, as also at Berbera and Zeila. By these means, and by the adoption of a steady, consistent policy at headquarters, it would be possible—not to say easy—to re-establish the authority of the Khedive between the Red Sea and Sennaar.

As to the cost of the Soudan, it is a mistake to suppose that it will necessarily be a charge on the Egyptian exchequer. It will cost two millions to relieve the garrisons and to quell the revolt; but that expenditure must be incurred any way; and in all probability, if the garrisons are handed over to be massacred and the country evacuated, the ultimate expenditure would exceed that sum. At first, until the country is pacified, the Soudan will need a subsidy of £206,000 a year from Egypt. That, however, would be temporary. During the last years of my administration the Soudan involved no charge upon the Egyptian exchequer. The bad provinces were balanced against the good, and an equilibrium was established. The Soudan will never be a source of revenue to Egypt, but it need not be a source of expense. That deficits have arisen, and that the present disaster has occurred, is entirely attributable to a single cause—and that is the grossest misgovernment.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

Havas's telegram last evening bring the most favourable news for both France and England. Hurrah for the red, white and blue! Our French neighbours danced with joy at the news from the Heathen Chinee.

The old story! Instead of cooling the air as everybody hoped, the rain on Friday was only so much boiling water, and the heat yesterday was more unbearable than ever, the feeling being that of slow stewing rather than of boiling or roasting. Everyone wore a greasy appearance, and groaned both in the flesh and the spirit at the abominable temperature. The breeze was as hot as if from a blast furnace, and the day in every way the most unpleasant since summer began.

We have the Orion's (not O'Ryan, as some people call her) mails. Her dates from London are not later than those already to hand; nevertheless, we extract from the papers very interesting details about the despatch of British troops to the Soudan. Our London Correspondent sends some interesting notes about the Queen's new book.

The Rev. Mr. Fleming, Scotch pastor, has arrived back from Mendoza, and we are happy to say in greatly improved health. He looks completely himself again and enjoyed his trip very much.

The Hon. Mr. Monson, H.M. Plenipotentiary, is expected up in the morning from Montevideo.

H.E. Sr. Alencar, the new Brazilian Minister, will be officially received to-morrow; he is stopping at the Provence.

Mr. W. Perkins, of Rosario, has been named American Consul at that port. The right man in the right place.

Messrs. Cassels have now nearly completed their preparations in the Central Market Kiosk for their grand trial of the Electric Light, Brush and Swan systems. They have a 25 horse engine and three dynamos which will be able to supply all the light required and also charge Accumulators. The Brush light will be for the streets, and the Swan for houses. The street lights will be 40 feet high on iron arches at the "bocas de Calle." The Southern and Western Railways have ordered the Brush Light for their termini, and it will be set going by Messrs. Cassels immediately.

The ladies of the Sociedad de Beneficencia went in a body to Mr. Thomas Drysdale's house on Friday to wish him a pleasant journey to Europe and thank him again for his gift to the Blind. They asked him for his portrait, which he promised to send from Europe.

The Number of the Paris Illustre which the Diario sent round yesterday as a 'prima' to its subscribers is the most beautiful thing we have ever seen—equal to the best efforts of the London illustrated papers, if not superior. It is worth while subscribing to the Diario, if only to get this beautiful paper.

People passing the Opera House on Friday night about 10½ p.m. could hear a terrific rumpus going on inside—shouts, cat-calls, yelling, whistling etc. What it was all about was a bad Dissolving Views show.

We have the programme of the Southern Railway Athletic Sports on the 25th. It is splendid, including no less than 30 events. The entrance fee is only 40 cents, and the 19th will be the last day for entries.

The Amicis Reception Committee was formed on Friday. Some of the first men in the town are on it, and Mr. A. may count on a very cordial welcome.

There is a great fuss going on in the papers about "metallising" the wooden pavement, to make it more durable, harder, slippery and more noisy. It is rather strange that this wonderful invention is not in use in London, Paris, or any other European city, and it is more strange still that should it make its debut in poor South America. "Timeo Danaos.

Oscar Wilde says Mary Anderson is "pure and fearless as a mountain daisy." This is a very apt simile. Fearlessness is one of the most noticeable attributes of the mountain daisy, which has so often been seen amid the smoke and turmoil of battle as calm and collected as if nothing were happening out of its ordinary experience. Oscar is right.—Exchange.

People should insure their lives before passing along Calle Piedras. At No. 254 in that street there is a large quantity of dynamite, abandoned by the owner, who has disappeared.

In answer to our remarks on Camp Fires and the necessity for screens on the funnels of the engines, we have received a communication from a friendly but very facetious railway manager to say that our white hat or our gingham umbrella (it is not gingham, but the best silk) would be as useful on the top of the funnel as what we propose; that there are spark-arresters on the engines; and the drivers have frequently seen boys along the line setting fire to the camps. We think that this might have been stated without needlessly unkind reference to our 'galera blanca,' and deliberate slander of our best umbrella, now left, like the last rose of summer, "blooming alone" on the top of Mount Currumalan.

MARSHAL BAZAINE.

Not a very grand soldier, in the physical sense, this man, who in forty years of steady purposeful duty had raised himself from out the very ranks to the position of Marshal of France. He was short, somewhat fat, long in the body, short and bulgy about the legs, and with a puffy, rather pasty face. But there were physical features that were to be marked favour ably. He had a good, straight manly eye; his mouth had a habit of setting itself firmly; his voice, rather hoarse in its lower notes, had a clear sounding ring when raised, as it many times and oft had been raised to bid men follow him in the charge. He could be silent, and he could sit still—two rare virtues in the Imperialist soldiery.—From the English Illustrated Magazine, January. 1884.

Dear Sirs,

I have much pleasure in stating that I cured all my flocks this season with the "Golden Leaf Extract," and found the result highly satisfactory, and in future do not intend to use any other dip.

After first using the "Golden Leaf," I found it such a perfect cure for Scab that I recommended it to several of my neighbours who have all proved it equally good.

Yours truly

Al arrimar un fosforo encendido a la mecha una detonacion se escucho y Perez se encontro envuelto por una llama de fuego; la bomba de la lampara habia estallado al arrimarse el fosforo y el liquido que aquella contenia se habia inflamado saltando al rostro y cuerpo de Perez.

IMPORTANT NOTICE—Every bottle of our imports of these brands bears our Red and White label.

Parry & Co.

Beg to caution the public that the Trade Marks of many of the Firms they represent are Pirated, and by this means Spurious and Worthless goods are foisted on purchasers, instead of the Genuine articles.

The Sham labels are wonderfully well got up to fulfil their nefarious mission.

Some of them bear a forgery of manufacturer's signature, others have apocryphal signatures, one or two letters being altered in an artistic a manner as almost to defy detection. Whilst many bear No Name whatever, but in general appearance closely resemble authentic labels.

We are determined to spare no efforts with a view to stopping the nefarious and dishonest practice of RE-FILLING EMPTIES, which is carried on to a shameless extent. This not only ruins the reputation of articles which are nutritious and conducive to good health, but the adulterated and unwholesome substitut s poison the blood and develope disease in those who consume them.

The following are some of the most notable instances in which this audacious swindle is commonly perpetrated, viz:—

TEAS

Those who re-fill with inferior mixtures the empty boxes bearing our registered brands of FINE TEAS, do so generally at the bottom, leaving the lid and top lead intact, so as the more readily to deceive purchasers.

Stout, Ale, Brandies, Hollands, Angostura, Lea & Perrins' Sauce, Clarets, Ports, Sherries, Sennapps, Whisky, Rum, Old Tom, &c,

Very many who despatch drinks by the glass buy the genuine articles, and after using the contents of one or two bottles (leaving the remainder of their purchase on the shelf for adornment and to induce the belief that they deal in first-class goods) re-fill them as required with CHEAP, and often, obnoxious substitutes.

There are others WHO MAKE A TRADE OF collecting empty bottles and cases of the articles enumerated, which are then used for putting up spurious and deleterious mixtures to be foisted on the public as legitimate productions.

We are at all times ready to give information to dealers who may be in doubt as to the legitimacy of any article purporting to be the product of any of the manufacturers whose attorneys we are, and whose Trade Marks we have registered.

ON 'CHANGE.

March 15th, 1884

Cedulas A	100
Cedulas E	88½
Cedulas F	83½

The market opened this morning firm for National Bank Shares, but very weak for Cedulas, and a stiff demand for Certificados. A petition is being signed, asking the Camara Syndical to allow these Certificados to be quoted on the black board, which we suppose will be done, as this scrip is now much more dealt in than formerly, and there is necessity for the quotation.

Cedulas rule very weak; Series F, although it comes very softly on the market, is steadily falling, and although there is a difference of 4½ o/o in the price of Series E and F, still we don't note the holders of Series E selling out to invest in Series F. The general shrinkage in these Cedula stocks is most remarkable, Series A was offered on 'Change to-day at par; and not sold, which shows the state of the market. The total sales of Cedulas to-day only reached 100,000, which is a very small day's business.

National Bank Shares seem bound upwards, and some very strong parties are evidently bulling the market; prices rose to 126½ before the close of the ring and looked still stronger after. As there is a good deal of fresh money accumulating with the houses, money on stocks is more offered. The Provincial and National Banks have spread much fresh money over the market by taking exchange so freely, and the opinion is general that Bank Shares will be carried up for the end of the month.

Exchange looks black; yesterday three of the houses drew all they had to draw at 47½, to-day none of those houses would draw any more and only at the Provincial Bank could bills be had at 47½. We think it probable that the Bank will next week lower its rates, and parties who applied at the Bank to-day for bills were told to call on Monday. The exchange market is swept clear and nothing left, and in high mercantile circles the general aspect of the market is not liked and much caution observed by all the private banks.

The following were the sales at the ring during official hours:—

Cedulas—
For cash E 30,000 at 88½-88-½-88
For March. 31st E 105,000 at 88½
For April 30th E 50,000 at 88½
For cash F 12,600 at 83½
Sales, 297,600

National Bank Shares—
For cash 120 at 126-125½
For March 31st 1,620 at 126⅝-⅜-⅝-½
For April 30th 100 at 128½
Sales, 1,768

The rain, although general throughout the camp, has not much cooled the weather, and to-day it was unpleasantly hot and sticky, and every appearance of more rain, which is indeed much required.

The funeral of the late Mr Horne, which took place in Montevideo yesterday, was very largely attended, and in fact, it was one of the largest funerals seen in Montevideo for years, such was the general respect in which the deceased was held.

We note at the ring now one hears brokers shouting out "compro certificados," which is a new departure as formerly transactions in this stock were done outside of the ring, no quotation on the board being allowed; what is very remarkable about this stock is that there is no speculation similar to that in the other shares in these certificados, they are bought up by capitalists, paid for in cash, and held for investment.

Mr. Sanford arrived up this morning and was warmly welcomed by his numerous friends; he brings the freshest advices from the London market, and his opinion on affairs may be accepted as oracular.

The sale of a large lot of wheat at the 25 de Mayo at the miserably low price of 40 $ per fanega, was the talk of the Bolsa this morning. They say that a wheat syndicate that has bought Santa Fe wheat very largely stands to lose 600,000 pats, which seems to us a very large figure.

The Minister of Foreign Affairs' Boletin for February was given round to-day; it is replete with Consular reports and other equally interesting matter. We notice a very able paper from Mr. Thomas F. Agar, Argentine Consul-General in Glasgow. Some idea of the value of this monthly Foreign Office Magazine may be gathered from the following list of reports from Consuls-General, Consuls and Vice-Consuls:—Glasgow, Havre, Genoa, Villa Garcia, Savona, Bologna, Edinburgh, Lucca, Albenga, Hamburg, Rotterdam, Berlin, Valencia, Vigo, Georgia, Stockholm, Nuremberg, Amsterdam, London, Santos, Uruguyana, Parnagua, Corunna, Lima, Potosi, Asuncion, Trieste.

The Diario publishes the following important sales of Hacienda:—

2128 picked cows in Santa Fe at 12.50 gold.
600 novillos for Saladero, Sta Fe, 12.20 "
A rodeo of cattle in Santa Fe: novillos, $20 billetes, cows with calves, $20 billetes; and without calves, $16 billetes.

The fine steamer Pomona will henceforward be put on the Patagones route. She will leave this port on the 1st of each month. This will be grand news for our friends in the Rio Negro; but we have better news still for them—the Railway from Bahia Blanca to Patagones will be begun this year.

President Santos received a London telegram, giving Unified Uruguays firm at 54. This is a jump up for this stock.

The National reports the sale of 12 Rio Negro land 'boletos' at 3,000 pats each, and says it is the highest price ever paid for these 'boletos.' We believe our colleague is right, as the last sale we reported was at 70,000 $ each, and the price now gi es 75,000 $. Parties who have to buy these 'boletos' to secure lands at present occupied, must pay very dear now for them. This time last year they were selling at 15 and 18,000 $ each; the year before they were only worth 11 to 12,000 $. We advised our friends then to buy the stock as some of the best buying, the same as we now tell our friends that "certificados" of the National Bank at their present price, are about the best purchase in this market. It is probable that these land 'boletos' will run up to 100,000 $ each.

At afternoon's there was really no market whatever for Cedulas or stocks, sellers of Cedulas at 88 cash, and of National Bank shares for end of month 126½.

Two lots of National Bank certificates sold at 130.

H.E. Councillor Alencar, the new Brazilian Minister, was welcomed on 'Change. H.E. holds a very distinguished position in the diplomatic service of the Empire, and we have no doubt will draw still closer the friendly relations between the two countries.

The traffic at the corner of Calle San Martin and Piedad was such to-day at 2 o'clock that the streets were all blocked up. In fact it reminds one of Charing Cross. At certain hours of the day 4 policemen are needed at this corner to manage the traffic.

Large payments on 'Change and at the banks this evening for produce, it seems to have been a busy week.

Some exchange passed this afternoon at 47½, English Bank drawer; also francs passed at 4.98. No exchange in the market.

Advices from Junin report the works of both railways, Western and Transandine, going ahead very fast. Mr Otero has purchased much property in Junin for the Western Railway. The Transandine works reach Carpincho.

From the Plaza Once we have the following:—

111 waggons of produce arrived.
The arrivals to-day were:—
7,500 @ wool
2,650 sacks of wheat
7,015 do maize
260 bales hay

And much of other produce. Prices of produce in general continue flat, and maize colza, barley and turnip maintain their prices

The Mayor of La Plata has been authorised to rent a house for a Municipality, and, with the aid of a powerful telescope, has discovered the only one in the place, belonging to Sr. Pintos, Secretary of the Provincial Senate.

Three maniacs—two men and a woman, were arrested in one day last week at Barracas. Rather a sad record in 24 hours.

It rained in forty points of the camp on Friday, and in many of them heavily. This ought to put the L Ns in high spirits.

The city was a mass of bad smells yesterday, due to the evaporation after the rain. But for the pure, good air that procured the city its name, we would all have been in kingdom come long ago, the soil of the town is so hopelessly infected.

In Rosario they are groaning under 36 Centigrade in the shade, worse than here.

The fight between the Lord Mayor and his unruly Council is based on the latter's having voted public works to the tune of 60 millions of paper dollars, without voting a copper of this immense sum, and the Lord Mayor refuses to begin the works till they provide the cash. This lamentable state of things shows how little the few honest men of sound sense and principle in the Municipality can do against the others, who scem bent on ruining the city. Stand firm in the breach, my Lord Mayor; all the citizens are with you.

Oh! The "Popular Science Monthly" makes a most outrageous mistake in a flattering article on this country. It says we have so many sheep that we do not know what to do with them, and that we dry the meat and use it as fuel!! This is news indeed. Nothing like this sort of thing for making Science thoroughly popular

The tremendous sums spent in Lotteries in this city may be gauged from the fact that, for the drawing of the Montevidean Lottery on Wednesday last, over 60,000 pats worth of tickets were sold in this city alone! £12,000 for one drawing! No wonder all the Lotteries flood Buenos Aires with their tickets. By the way, who won the 60000 pats? Not the Administration we hope.

The proper place to see Carnival is Montreal, Canada. There they celebrate the festival on the ice-blocks. When it is illuminated the effect is gorgeous, as all the blocks glisten and glitter like brilliants. Hocky, curling, skating, tobogganing, etc., make it most interesting. Such a Carnival would be worth seeing.

We have now a new 'illustrated' on roll, called the Eco Artistico, and, although neither a Graphic nor London News, is fairly good. It appears twice a month, on the 1st and 15th. We wish our colleague a long and successful life.

Mr. Escalada, the San Luis Lottery agent, brought an action against a commission agent for money due on tickets. The verdict declares that Mr. Escalado is deprived of all right to action by law, which does not recognise such transactions.

Using bad kerosene causes innumerable accidents. Yesterday, in the act of lighting a lamp, a man named Perez was nearly killed. The whole thing blew up and set him on fire. He sustained some horrible injuries. If he had used "Southern Cross" or "Luxor" Kerosene his beauty would not have been spoiled.

There were two accidents in five minutes yesterday in Calle Bolivar, between Alsina and Victoria. First Don Francisco Chas's carriage collided with another; one pole was broken, but nobody hurt. The next smash was that of an ice cart, which went right over and fell on the driver, but he was not much hurt.

One thousand boxes will be required to transport the Provincial furniture, documents, archives, etc. to La Plata. The books of the Contaduria are now being boxed up. Ex-Commissary Tasso Packer General, and gets one hundred and fifty paper dollars for every box or case ready for removal. He will make a nice thing of it.

An old lady has died in Saladillo from the bite of a poisonous spider, in the eye, while she was asleep. Her head swelled to the size of a beer cask, and in six days she was dead.

Near the Catalinas Mole, yesterday, a young fellow, who had deserted from the Montevidean Escuela de Artes y Oficios, was found drowned. Some who had seen him said that he went there to wash himself, but losing his balance tumbled into the water, which was about a yard deep. He was taken out lifeless.

The Novedades has again come to life. It was only suspended pending the introduction of some improvements, and will now reappear rejuvenated, and fresh as ever. We wish our colleague the merriest of lives.

The Calle Alsina is to be paved from Zeballos to Entre Rios; good news for the neighbours there. The work will be commenced immediately, if not sooner.

The National Bank has received 5 boxes of notes by the Handel from New York via Liverpool. We hope the old cry for change will now cease, as it is high time it should.

We must go back to Cicero's time to find a precedent for a lawyer himself publishing a defence of his client. Dr. Palomeque has just given to the public his defence of Luis Patri indicted for homicide.

There is such an awful squeeze at the Direccion de Rentas office that the officials there have petitioned the Finance Minister to postpone the day before which all payment must be made, until the 31st. It will doubtless be granted.

The Lord Mayor has officially acquainted the corporators concerning the petition made by the P. O. C. T. A. to have weighing machines placed at some of the principal points in the city. The measure is intended to compel carters to adhere to the laws determining the maximum weight they can carry. It is another step forward.

A new disinfectant called after the inventor Igouf is about to be tried in the public slaughter houses here before the Lord Mayor and some of his confreres. There is certainly always material for the working of such an invention in this city.
